Council on Aging News
Deb Nunes

The Royalston Luncheon Club meets on Wednesdays at 11:30 for a meal and conversation. As of Nov. 1st, the cost of the meal is $2.00 and reservations can be made by calling Dorothy Newton at 249-8882 the Monday prior. A Chinese Auction is held on the first Wednesday of the month, and on the fourth Wednesday the Brown Bag Distribution and the Blood Pressure Clinic are held. In December the Holiday meal will be on December 22nd, and a special New Year’s Celebration will be on the 29th.

Plans for the flu shot clinic are still up in the air. Keep an eye out for updated information in the Athol Daily News or by calling Phil Leger at the Royalston Board of Health or COA Chair Betty Woodbury.

The next meeting of the COA will be Thursday, Dec. 9th at 11:00 a.m. at the home of Dorothy Newton on Athol Road. All are welcome. Happy Holidays.

HOLIDAY SEASON: The Selectboard and the Administrative Assistant wish everyone a safe and happy Holiday Season.

Remember ERV this Holiday Season
The Royalston Firefighters’ Association has been working long and hard – more than two years, as a matter of fact - to amass the funds necessary to purchase a badly-needed Emergency Rescue Vehicle for the Town of Royalston. The goal is to purchase, without the use of tax dollars, a vehicle that will serve our needs for the next 20 or so years. Thanks to extremely supportive individuals and businesses, this year’s fundraising efforts (everything from food concessions, barbecues, sit-down meals, raffles and even a dinner dance!) have produced a great deal of income. Combined with the generous donations from last year’s letter campaign, we are more than two-thirds of the way to the $100,000 goal.

As you contemplate your year-end, tax-deductible gifts, please remember ERV with a generous donation. If your company offers matching donations, please take the time to fill out the paperwork; the Association is a 501c non-profit organization, eligible for matching donations, which are appreciated in any amount at any time, and may be sent to: Royalston Firefighters’ Association, c/o Treasurer James M. Putney, 185 North Fitzwilliam Rd., Royalston, MA 01368.
DPW Update
Keith Newton, DPW Supervisor

The School Street stabilization project is in full swing. The contractor found good soil and the work is going quicker than expected. The retaining walls resemble granite and are quite handsome. The project is funded by the Small Town Road Assistance Project.

As the snow begins to fly, keep in mind:
Town Parking Ban: From December 1st through April 30th, parking is prohibited on public ways at all hours because of snow plowing concerns. Cars in violation will be towed at owner’s expense. Also, please remember it is unlawful to place snow removed from driveways and walkways into public ways. Police will assist with enforcement of these Town bylaws.

Town Tree Lighting and Live Nativity
Deb Nunes

The Cultural Council is sponsoring the annual Tree Lighting Ceremony at the Town Hall on Wednesday, December 8th, beginning at 6 p.m. with the live nativity scene in front of the Congregational Church, followed at 6:30 p.m. with the tree lighting and music by Royalston Community School musicians led by Beverly Chadwick. There will be caroling, a special guest arriving by fire engine, and hot chocolate and homemade cookies inside the Town Hall afterwards.

The Cultural Council is looking for new blood. In addition to the awarding of the annual Mass. Arts Lottery grants, other Council activities include the biennial Royalston Follies; the summer Music Festival; and the Holiday Tree Lighting. The Council has purchased and maintains the lighting and sound equipment in the Town Hall, and has overseen the establishment and continuation of the popular and successful Open Mike nights. We meet for about an hour about six times per year, not a huge commitment. Council members include Patience Bundschuh, Sonia Vaccari, Deb Nunes, Mary Anne Lizotte, Ann Kussey, Bob Cromwell and Pat Andreliunas. Come have fun with us!

Our next meeting will be on Sunday afternoon, December 12 at 2 p.m. at Deb Nunes, 350 Athol Richmond Road (route 32). Call Deb at 249-4000 for more information.

A Walk in the Town Woods
Tom Kellner, Selectman

Join town forester, Glenn Freden, and selectmen for a walk in the Town-owned 78-acre property down “Dump Road” on December 11th at 10:00 a.m. Meet at the Post Office. This easy walk will provide opportunities to find out about current plans to selectively harvest town timber on the land. After hiking, participants are encouraged to give input regarding future financial and recreational uses of this public resource.

The election results are in…

Surprise: the Bush / Cheney ticket won the 2004 presidential election, and Royalston backed the loser. Here, the Kerry / Edwards ticket won in town with 338 votes compared to Bush’s 272, Badardnik’s 7 and Cobb’s 6. State Senator Brewer got a real mandate with 492 votes compared with 83 for Gaucher and 29 for McMahon. In the unusually heated race for Worcester County Sheriff, Gidis took a resounding 336 votes; McCarthy: 181 and Beshai: 41. The Royalston Community School’s mock elections accurately reflected the presidential election results, but was off on most of the rest.

Former Town Clerk Barbara Richardson reported a “very smooth election for such a large turnout” with a 71 percent of Royalston’s 887 registered voters (74% of Precinct #1 and 69% of Precinct #2) participating on November 2. Approximately 50 residents registered specifically to vote in this election and 34 absentee ballots were cast.

The LBS held a successful bake sale a precinct #1 in conjunction with the elections, bringing in more than $200 for their various memorial scholarships. Election workers for precinct #1 were Warden Nancy S. Bolton, Inspectors Roberta Newman and Helen Williams, Clerk Nancy E. Newton, Tellers Brenda L. Putney and Theresa Quinn and Royalston Police Officers Drew Duplessis and Scott Landry. In precinct #2, workers included Warden Kathy Chencharik, Inspectors Karen LeBlanc, Barbara Denis and Louise Gelinas, Royalston Police Officer Sherry A. Miner and Royalston Police Sergeant Wayne Gelinas.

Like the rest of the country, Royalston residents held particularly strong and uncompromising opinions about the candidates in this presidential election. Functioning democracy requires accepting majority rule and moving on. It should also mean staying informed and taking action to affect good policy for the greatest number of citizens. Like the Red Sox and Christmas, democracy requires a little naivete and a lot of hope.

Assessors’ Notes

The tax bills should be out sometime in December after final certification from the state Dept. of Revenue. Valuations took a big jump as previously reported. If your figures don’t look right, read the back of the bill carefully because there is only a 30 day window of opportunity in which to file for an abatement. Office 978-247-0337.

Oh, Where did the Time Go?
Kathy Morris, Library Director

This December marks my tenth year as Library Director. Thank you seems a meager offering for the gratitude I feel towards all the wonderful people who have been a part of the library through these years. To all of you thank you for your support, your physical and mental labor, your friendship, and for making the library such a special place.

Librarians of Royalston: We Salute You
Of course, Kathy is one of a series of librarians who have worked hard and well in Royalston. In 1778, Rev. Lee began a subscription library from the parsonage and by 1881, under the persuasion of the Ladies’ Benevolent Society, the first public library was opened in what is now the Selectman’s Office. Elizabeth Waite Chase was the first town public librarian, and she served until her accidental death six years later; in 1897, Emma Pierce, Maria C Bragg, and Hattie Walker took brief turns. They were followed by Mrs Emmeline MacKenzie, who served 23 years and was librarian when the Phinehas S Newton library was built in 1910. The library had room for book collections and a mini-museum of natural history. The glass cases in the front room that currently hold Town histories contained collections of rocks, birds, nests and other wonders. The stuffed Bluefooted Boobies that perch on top of the case are artifacts from this museum. Past patrons remember a stone box full of local minerals, including a huge chunk of Beryl, which sat on the fireplace mantle at this time. (The library would love to hear if any readers know what happened to that box.) When library commissioners asked if the library served children, Mrs MacKenzie replied that there were very few children in Royalston.

Certainly, Elsie B. Jewett was the most tenacious of all Royalston librarians. She served as director from 1928-1973 without a stop until she died at age 88. Patrons never took books off the shelves. Instead they requested them from Mrs. Jewett who would find them and hand them over the counter. At a party given in honor of her 80th birthday, she reminisced about the library pre-electricity when she searched the shelves by candlelight.

Suzanne Bosco took over in 1973; Marita Cauthen served from 1979 to 1983; Lillian Newton was librarian for a short period, and she was replaced by Millie Clement. Darlene Willhite served twice, which may have been in her blood as she later discovered that her grandfather had briefly been married to Elsie B Jewett. Darlene was librarian from 1986-88 when she was succeeded by Cynthia Clifford and Noreen Farwell, and then she returned from 1991-94. Kathy Morris began in 1994, which makes her the 3rd longest serving Royalston public librarian. Our library has always been a wonderful resource. Many of these women had very little training in their vocation, yet they have all brought knowledge and light to a small, rural and often underfinanced town, which is certainly very noble. Thank you.

Unbelievably, even after 45 years as librarian, there is no photo of Mrs. Jewett in the library or Historical Society. If a reader has a likeness of Mrs. Jewett or any of the past librarians not pictured above, please contact the library so that they can be properly remembered.
Thank You

New Circulation Coordinator at the RCN

Thanks to Jim Kelley of Deland Road, who is the new circulation coordinator for the Royalston Community Newsletter. He will be organizing the collating and mailing of this newsletter to the 576 households in Royalston that receive this newsletter 10 times a year. He will still need the help of all the regular volunteers at the monthly “foldings” and would appreciate any offers of help from new folks interested in pitching in as well. If interested, email Jim at jekelley@crystal-mtn.com. Also, our web guru is back in town, so the RCN should be back on-line this December.

Upcoming Library Events:

Preschool Story Time Holiday Party
On Monday, December 13th at 10:30 a.m. Norah Dooley, children’s author, storyteller, and Royalston resident, will entertain the Pres-school Story Time with holiday stories. Holiday treats will be served after the program. All preschool children and their caregivers are welcome to attend and no pre-registration is necessary. The story time is funded by a grant from the Athol-Royalston Community Partnership for Children.

Cross Culture Club
The after school program that explores other cultures, Cross Culture Club, will return to the Phinehas S Newton Library the last two Thursdays of January and the first two Thursdays of February. The plan is to bring a little Poland, Puerto Rico, Japan, and Argentina to Royalston this winter. Participants find new places on the globe, learn a smidgen of language, taste special foods, make a typical crafts and discover the similarities and differences between their lives and those of inhabitants of other lands. Details are being finalized. Watch for information in kids’ backpacks or call the library 249-3572 for information in January.

Visual Thesaurus at the Library

Thanks to Jon Hardie and Rebecca Krause-Hardie the library’s computers are equipped with the new CD-Rom, The Visual Thesaurus. It provides an animated display of words and meanings through visualization and helps you explore the fascinating inter-relatedness of the English language. So if you need that perfect word in a letter, report, or retort, stop by the library and use this great new resource.

Ladies B. does it Again (And Again, and Again…)
As the Ladies’ Benevolent Society of Royalston closes out its 180th year of continuous service, they proved they can turn out a public supper as well as their many predecessors. November 13th saw about half of the 30 LBS members either contributing baked goods or working at the supper, and more than 100 supporters filling seats at the Town Hall or picking up to-go orders. More than $600 will go towards scholarships for Royalston residents. The ladies will meet at the home of Theresa Quinn on Wednesday December 15 at 7:30 p.m. to pack goodie baskets for shut-ins. If you know of a resident who would like to receive a basket or if you’d like to furnish a homemade treat, please call president Kristin West at 249-5993. If you have a benevolent bent, please come to help pack or feel free to attend any LBS function. The LBS is an ecumenical group committed to “good works for those in necessitas circumstances.”

Rene Lake wowed the crowd recently in the Pat Poor/Maxine Wilcox Ladies’ Benevolent Society memorial concert. This annual classical piano event includes wonderful music, neighborly company and plentiful refreshments. Plan to attend next year, whether you are a lady, benevolent or otherwise.

weave
On November 4th, Royalston’s Becky Krause-Hardie and the four other members of the singing group Weave, were featured at a dinner and fundraiser for the Minetta Brooks Foundation at the Whitney Museum of Art, in New York City. Weave is an improvisation a cappella group whose work encompasses overtone singing, shape note singing … and a lot in between. Several members have been singing together, in the Harmonic Choir and in other forms, for almost 20 years. The evening was “curated” by Ann Hamilton, a Macarthur Foundation recipient, and an exceptional artist, whose work was recently featured at Mass MoCA. The Friends of the Library are trying to bring Weave in concert to Royalston in the coming months.

Welcome Yule!
Norah Dooley, program co-director
Music, Dance, Songs and Stories of the Yuletide Season! At the Frontier Regional Auditorium in South Deerfield, MA. This is the 20th Anniversary production of Welcome Yule: A Midwinter Celebration. Come join us in a musical journey from England to Appalachia. Friday, December 10 and Saturday, December 11 at 7:30pm, and Sunday, December 12 at 2pm. Tickets will be available in advance at the Jones Library in Amherst, the Broadside Bookshop in Northampton, and the World Eye Bookstore in Greenfield. Tickets are available at the door, but we won’t be able to accept credit cards. Cash and checks are fine. You may also reserve tickets by calling 413-665-3206 and leaving a message. Adults are $10. Under 16 and Seniors are $5; under 4 are free.

Royalston Community School News
Bobbie French, Principal
Winter is upon us. The children were excited by the first snow fall of the year. It is also a reminder for all of us to dress warmer. Students are encouraged to come to school dressed for winter weather. We are in need of extra winter clothing for those less fortunate and more forgetful.

December is a busy month at school. The PTG’s annual Toy Bingo sponsored by Kindergarten will be held on December 2nd. The Middle School is hosting a craft fair on Sat. December 4th. On Dec. 7th @ 5:00 is our school council meeting, all are welcome and @ 6:30 is our PTG Meeting. The Thayer Symphony Orchestra, sponsored by the Royalston Academy, will play for us on December 8th. That night, RCS band will play at the Town Tree Lighting. Christmas vacation is from December 23rd until January 3rd.

The Sixth Grade Class is very busy planning their trip to Nature’s Classroom for May. They are deep in fundraising efforts. Available now at RCS and the Post Office and South Royalston Store are homemade Holiday Cards created by the class. They are also selling raffle tickets for a Holiday Basket and a Cord of Wood (thank you to the Sawyers). For tickets, ask your nearest sixth grader! There is a lot of community support to help reduce the cost of this trip for each family. We are also accepting donations toward scholarships.

The teachers in the district have settled a new contract. This brings the addition of art and music to our students on a weekly basis. They are excited about having the arts back on a regular schedule.

While shopping this holiday season, drop by the Monty Tech Tea Room for lunch, open full school days from 11 a.m. – 1 p.m.. There’s plenty of parking behind the school (look for the glass block windows) near the rear entrance, and it’s easily accessible for those using wheelchairs and walkers. The Tea Room is a working shop for culinary arts students, who, with adult supervision, run the business. Students set the dining room, plan and prepare foods, seat guests, wait tables and shut down the operation each afternoon. The food is fabulous, the service unequalled and the prices absolutely incredible. The daily menu offers everything from appetizers through desserts. I recently enjoyed a cup of the most delicious seafood chowder I’ve ever had (better than my own, I’m a little sad to say!) which was served with home baked rolls. The baked haddock that followed had a lightly spiced, buttered crumb topping, and was served with glazed carrots, tangy coleslaw and perfectly prepared rice pilaf. I managed to finish the unsweetened iced tea, but had no room for one of their delectable desserts. I paid the student cashier for my meal, left a 20% tip, and came away with some change from the $10 bill I used.

Scholarships for Royalston Students
Winter break is THE time to start investigating scholarships and authoring scholarship essays. Make sure to obtain a list of scholarships and requirements from your high school or college BEFORE you begin winter break. More may be added later, but many are due by 3/1!
Shop Locally this Holiday
For a little town, there are a lot of cool things to purchase in and around Royalston. Some even benefit our library. Spend locally this season. Help out your neighbors and support organization which enrich our community.

Natural Wonders of Royalston Poster:

Featuring the falls, flowers, fungi and other scenic wonders of Royalston, the Friends of the Phinehas S Library have produced a gorgeous and glossy 18x24" poster, suitable for framing, that celebrates some of the many natural riches of our Town. With photos donated by award - winning nature photographer, Noah Siegel, and technical layout assistance from Barbara Guiney, computer graphics genius and library trustee, this poster is a beautiful and affordable gift. Available at the library, the Post Office and the Millers River Education Center nature store at 100 Main St, Athol.

Local History in a Local Book: “North of Quabbin Revisited: A Guide to Nine Towns North of Quabbin Reservoir” by Royalston author Allen Young is a uniquely informative and enjoyable local book that remains in print. The book has a great deal of interesting information about Royalston history, wildlife and contemporary community life, including many beautiful photographs. It is an excellent source of information about the entire region, including the Quabbin Reservoir and the “lost towns” of the Swift River Valley. Arrangements can be made with the author for obtaining personalized autographed copies of the book, ideal for holiday giving, by phone, 978-249-7612, or Email, aaayoung@aol.com. It is available at Bruce’s Browser and at Haley’s of Athol. Also, signed copies are available at the Phinehas S. Newton Library with a percentage of the profits benefiting the Friends.

CDs and Videos: The library has about 20 duplicates of CDs that we received from the anti-trust settlement against the record companies that we are selling for $5.00 and many videos that we have withdrawn from the collection for $1.00 each. Stop by the library to see what’s available.

Hand-made Holiday Cards: Linoleum print and rubber stamp cards with home-made envelopes to benefit the Royalston Community School 6th grade trip to Nature’s Classroom, a week long environmental education center on the Maine Coast, are on sale at RCS, the Post Office and the South Royalston Store. $5.00/pkt.

Classy Apparel from Alpacas: Royal Pines Alpaca Farm at 30 Brown Rd has incredibly soft and beautiful sweaters, scarves and socks made from alpaca yarn. Not at all itchy. Also pillows, slippers, and wicked cute finger puppets. Prices $10 and up. Call Ginger May, 249-7629.

Pete & Henry’s: Alas! No more chicken nuggets until January 6, when Pete & Henry’s re-opens following their winter hiatus. Last-minute holiday gift certificates, however, will be available during the closed weeks by calling and leaving a message at 978-249-8375. Calls will be returned within a day or two, and arrangements made for certificate payment and pick-up or mailing. Hours after the January 6 re-opening are Thursdays from 4 p.m. – 9 p.m., Fridays from 4 p.m. – 10 p.m., Saturdays from 3 p.m. to 10 p.m. and Sundays from 1 p.m. – 8 p.m.

Local Wood Products: North Quabbin Woods has a new showroom on Rte 2A in downtown Orange featuring bent wood baskets, wooden toys, furniture, photo frames, musical instruments and more made by local artisans from local wood. Store hours: Tues-Fri 11:00 am-6pm. Open house: Sat. Dec 4, 10 am-6 pm.

Bulk and Natural foods: Royalston Community Co-Op mcharclay@royalston_community_news@yahoo.com or bputney@crystal-mtn.com

Christmas orders are due from members to Mary and Brenda no later than Thursday, December 2. Delivery is on December 9. Members should check out the “yahoo groups” site to see what splits have been posted.

Bruce’s Pharmacy, Inc. to Become Bruce’s Browser
Diane Lincoln, President
On December 1st Bruce’s Pharmacy, Inc. will become Bruce’s Browser. The pharmacy department and the health and beauty aids inventory is being sold to CVS. The business will expand its magazine/paperback book section into an actual book store while keeping the card and gift departments intact. Gourmet coffee from Dean’s Beans, cappuccino, and espresso will be added to existing soda-fountain selections to enhance what will become a cyber café at the front of the store. The back corner of the store, where the pharmacy department is currently located, will be opened up into educational/performance/meetingspace with a focus on enhancing the community.

Bruce’s will not close during this transition, which will probably take around six weeks. I will need to spend some time at the new CVS location helping with the pharmacy transition throughout December. Donna King will be managing Bruce’s while I’m at CVS. I’ll be back to focus on the new Browser in January. Watch for our grand opening.

Ed note: Bruce’s Pharmacy of 1497 Main St in Athol is owned by Royalston resident and rising rock star, Diane Lincoln. She has been a consistent supporter of this newsletter and most community organizations.

Congrats John and Millie: your happiness shows.

Ginny Gingras would like to thank donors who recently gave to the United Way Campaign in Town. She exceeded her goal in collecting donations thanks to your generosity.

Best wishes for a long and safe career to Vermont State Trooper William C. Deveneau, of Bennington, Vermont, who recently graduated from VT SP Academy. He was one of two troopers in his class to receive their first choice assignment, a privilege granted based on academic performance. Trooper Deveneau is currently undergoing four weeks of specialized tactical training and will begin working out of the Shaftsbury Barracks in January. He is the son of Laurie (Clark) and Royalton Police Chief Curtis A. Deveneau, brother of Christopher Deveneau, and has many other proud relatives and friends in and around Royalton.

Kevin Nunes will graduate on December 15th from Basic & Military Police Training at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. He will be home on leave for several weeks, and in January will be deployed to Korea for a 15 month assignment. Kevin is a 2004 graduate of Murdock Middle/High School and is the son of Deb and Joe Nunes.

Norcross Road’s, Norah Dooley recently traveled to Chicago to discuss her book, Everybody Cooks Rice, which was selected as the children’s picture book for the Mosaic Project, an awareness project on diversity, which encompassed five Chicago suburbs.

Rebecca Krause-Hardie, town tax collector and wonderful website designer, just had her website for the New York Philharmonic Orchestra (http://www.nyphil.org) selected as one of the top ten Websites in the Arts. This site is designed for children to learn about symphony orchestras: the instruments, the music and the artists.

RCS Poetry Club:

Thanksgiving
Our turkey feast is in the fall. Rice and turkey, I like it all.
A few days off, A biscuit too; of the pies, I eat a few.
Mashed potatoes in gravy sauce
Cranberry stuffing is to eat, not toss.
All of this is so much fun
I’m always sorry when Thanksgiving’s done.
Was it the first Pilgrims’ creation that became our Thanksgiving celebration?

Recipe of the Month

Sally Wheeler of Athol Richmond Rd makes amazing sugar cookies that stir up all kinds of sweet memories of past happy holidays. It can’t be proved, but there is suspicion that these cookies could be part of the reason Sally’s husband, Ed Wheeler, is able to cheerfully go about his complicated and prickly duties as head of the town Finance Committee year after year, or that her three children, Elizabeth, Derek, and Corey are so smart, well behaved and kind. Sally is not sure of the recipe’s origination. It came from her aunt, Edith Turnbull. In parenthesis, next to the aunt’s name on the recipe card, it says “(avon)”, but Sally doesn’t know if that means the cosmetics company or if it’s someone’s name.

Holiday Sugar Cookies
1 cup softened butter
1 1/2 cups confectioner’s sugar
1 egg
1/2 teaspoon vanilla (the real stuff is best)
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
2 1/2 cups all purpose flour*
1 teaspoon baking soda
Mix thoroughly butter, sugar, egg, vanilla and almond extract. Blend in flour and baking soda. Cover, chill 2 to 3 hours. Heat oven to 375 degrees. Divide dough in half. Roll each half 1/4 inch thick on lightly floured board. Cut into desired shapes. Place on lightly greased baking sheet. Bake 7 to 8 minutes or until light brown on edge. Yields approximately 4 dozen 2 to 2 1/2 inch cookies. *If using self-rising flour, omit soda.
Congregational Church News

Kelly A. Newton

The service was too wonderful for words! The First Congregational Church of Royalston welcomed their new members: Shelley Graham, Mike and Sue Veilleux, Kyle Stoddard, David Williams & Kelly Newton. We were blessed with such a beautiful sermon, ministry of music, prayers, testimonies and praises. Incoming members conducted the entire service including the preaching by Mike Veilleux. Participants all welcomed and would like to praise God for supplying us with spectacular music through Wayne Newton.

Also, that evening there was a Harvest Party for all friends and families from Royalston and beyond. Attendance was tremendous. We started with a glorious Pot Luck Dinner. The children had an "AWESOME TIME!" with all the fun & games (so did the adults).

Church Calendar Reminders:
Youth Christmas Choir will be starting from Nov 7 – Dec 12, last practice, after the 11:00 AM service at the First Congregational Church. All Welcome.

It Took a Village…

Sue Veilleux

….And the Village came through. Thank you all who helped physically and spiritually with the firewood cutting on the afternoon of October 24th at the house of Sue and Mike Veilleux. We were able to deliver one dump truck load of wood to Pastor Ginger and one to Wayne and Kelly Newton. Lynn and Tom Jahl were able to fill the back of their truck also. Thanks to all who were involved. A special thank you goes to the Divoll Family who supplied the tractors and splitters and the Putney Family who supplied the dump truck and logging truck which made the job much easier. Mike was very thankful that he didn’t have to eat chili all week.

Jingle Bell Church Fair

Wonderful Success

Members of the Second Congregational Church are delighted with the final results of their annual Jingle Bell fair, held on November 20. The baked goods table sold out, the pantry was practically bare when the last fair-goer finished his corn chowder, hot dog and cupcake. Brisk business took place at two ticket auctions, a silent auction, the handcrafted items table, and white elephant table. This hard-working group brought in more than $1,000 profit for the Church’s general treasury and the turnout was far better than last year when the Jingle Bell Fair coincided with the first nor’ easter of the season.

History of the Live Nativity

Dr. Rev. Ginger Asel

The town’s first Live Nativity was planned in conjunction with the lighting of the town’s Christmas tree in 1994. Tom Musco constructed a timber frame stable. Fifteen-day-old Kelsey Savoy, daughter of Cindy and Steve Savoy, was baby Jesus. She slept peacefully in the manger for the entire display. Craig Divoll and Sara Lefsyk portrayed Joseph and Mary. Kate Collins and Birch Knoll Farm provided the sheep and farm animals respectively.

The following day, Patience Bundschuh and Pastor Ginger transformed the fall hay figures seated on the town bench into Mary and Joseph. Stuffed nylons were used for the faces and hands. In 1995 Lydia Musco crafted life-size figurines for the Holy Family. The Arts’ Council provided funding for their construction.

After the first year as much as possible the Holy Family was played by family members of the baby. This year we hope to gather all the children who have been baby Jesus in the past. They will be invited to appear as angels and shepherds in the Live Nativity. They will also be honored at the Christmas Pot Luck Pageant on December 17th. The following is the historic roster:

1994 – Kelsey Savoy (Cynthia & Steven Savoy)
1995 – Michele Thompson (Mark & Beth Thompson & Kimberlee)
1996 – John Divoll (Randy & Becky Divoll)
1997 – Tobey Rose Chase (Beth Gospodarek & Steve Chase)
1998 – Abagail Sue Divoll (Randy & Becky Divoll)
1999- (doll) – cold and mother was concerned
2000 – Jaclynn Fortunato (Jason & Jen Fortunato); Coleen Spear (Kelly Newton & Kevin Spear) in South Village
2001 – Natalie Lawrence (Ivers and Irene Lawrence) ; Shaelyn Dushion (Terri and Kevin Dushion)
2002 – Hannah Mikayla Bean (Brian, Tracy, Joshua Bean)
2003 – Jaden Softic (Adrian & Amy Softic) – Bill Lefsyk, Jaden’s grandfather enacted Joseph, because Adrian was serving in Iraq. A candle light peace vigil and silent prayer held for those serving our country in harm’s way.
2004 – Connor Paas (Robert and Jacqueline Paas)

1995 Lydia Musco crafted life-size figurines for the Holy Family. The Arts’ Council provided funding for their construction.

In your Own Backyard
Beth Gospodarek

About 500 million years ago, chunks of your backyard were part of South America. Continents were drifting about on the molten core of the Earth. Traveling at a rate of a few inches/year, they were covering great distances over the eons of geology. A chunk of erupting volcanoes from South America, known to geologists as Bronson Hill slammed into the New England coast and forced sheets of rocks to fold up into the Berkshires. Local bedrock was mostly formed at this catastrophic time when soft sedimentary rocks such as slate, shale and schist were caught up in the era’s seismic drama and thrust back deep underground. There they were melted by the high temperatures and eventually cooled slowly underground into their familiar hard gneiss and granite states. About 5 million years later, a collision with another land mass, known as Avalon, churned up huge mountains in central Massachusetts. Then, about 280 million years ago, when Royalston’s latitude lay somewhere near the equator, Africa piled into the crash and all 7 continents were joined in the formation known as Pangea. The wavy geological striations on Tully Mountain indicate several separate major tectonic crashings, pushings and foldings. The “Athol Fault”, a small crack which runs from Spirit Falls, down Long Pond and Tully Brook, and out to Rt 2 was also formed at this volatile time.

All of this bumping and grinding of tectonic plates for million and millions of years caused frequent earthquakes and volcanoes in our region, which in turn, created new rocks and minerals. Rocks traveled from the surface back toward the Earth’s molten core. Underground heat and gases combined with elements in the surrounding rocks to make new forms; for example, sandstone turned into quartz and mud shale morphed into mica, often combined with garnets. Generally, the slower the underground cooling process, the larger the crystals formed. The gasses in the new molten minerals caused expansion, which forced them into any available cracks, called dikes, in the bedrock. Pegmatite, similar to granite but with much larger crystals, is often is found in these dikes. The beryl of Beryl Hill in North Royalston is from pegmatite. The magnetically charged iron found on Butterworth Ridge probably came pretty directly from the Earth’s mantle layer through its own dike. Most of the rocks and minerals in Royalston combined with acidic gases during their formation, which is the main reason local gardens benefit from liberal applications of lime every spring.

Around 190 million years ago, there was a shift in the direction of the continental drift. Europe and Africa headed east. The North American Tectonic Plate began inching its way west until it reached the Pacific Plate +/- 65 million years ago. This collision created the Rocky Mountains, and the recent rumblings of Mt. St. Helens are further evidence that our backyards are drifting very very slowly into the sunset. Because all of the recent tectonic action has been in the wild west, there have been no strong geologic pressures on New England for 190 million years despite periodic dish-rattling small earthquakes.

A series of over 20 ice ages in the last two million years have done a lot to smooth over the rough edges left by these crashing continents. The Laurentide ice sheet was the last great glacier, and 18,500 years ago, it extended from the Arctic into the US reaching as far south as northern New Jersey and Pennsylvania. It had retreated as far as Royalston about 16,000 years ago and back to the Canadian border by 12,000 years ago, (a trip that takes about 4 hours in a car today.) Glaciers are heavy and powerful bulldozers. Like a rolling snowball, they incorporate loose rocks in their path. When they were pushing southward in our region, they took a lot of loose soil. During their retreat, while they were melting, they dropped loads of collected debris and produced floods of eroding water. The topography of Royalston today is due mainly to this glacial sculpting. The natural bridge and potholes on Tully Brook north of Royalston Falls are particularly pretty examples. Some of the plentiful rocks dropped by the glaciers were put to service in local stone walls. There are quite a few erratics in Town, also. Those are boulders and other debris unrelated to local geology brought from the north by the ice and dumped in our backyards.
